

The "Do Not Call List" is a wonderful idea that has worked very well. Obviously, the only reason for ending this list would be to fatten someone's pocket. Would it be possible for the FCC to do something good for the people of this country by keeping the list? I'm very sorry people in the telemarketing INDUSTRY may lose thier jobs but I've never given them permission to intrude into my life in the first place!